VI. PROCEDURE:

- I. The Las Vegas Police Department's Canine program promotes a common cause by maintaining a canine program to aid in the prevention, deterrence, detection of criminal activity and apprehension of suspects.

The Las Vegas Police Department is committed to maintaining public safety and confidence through utilization of its canine program as an integral aspect of a multifaceted system developed and maintained to ensure the safety and security of communities are not compromised.

The Department strives to provide a safe environment for the public through the prevention of escapes, apprehension of fugitives, street patrols, and narcotics detection. The Department is committed to cooperative canine program efforts and mutual aid endeavors through planning with other local, state, and federal law enforcement agencies.

This policy is intended to establish policies and procedures to be implemented as to utilization of the departments Canine (K-9) Unit. This implementation will provide for a canine unit, or K-9 Team to search buildings for criminals, to track wanted fugitives and to assist in search and rescue. The canine unit or team will assist in apprehension of criminals, and for the use of narcotics detection.

II. Administration of Canine Section

- A. Canine Team(s) are assigned to the Field Operations Division, and Narcotics Section. The teams will be allocated in a manner that is determined to be operationally effective and efficient and in the best interest of the citizens.
- B. The canine officer is under direct supervision of the assigned Supervisor, Division Commander, and Chief of Police and/or designee.
- C. A Canine Coordinator or trainer is designated by the Division Commander and is responsible for record keeping, training, and other duties which may be required for the efficient and effective operation of the canine team.
- D. A supervisor or acting supervisor at a scene may assume command of the scene only. The final deployment of the K-9 will be the sole responsibility of the handler because he or she will have first knowledge of the K-9's limitations and abilities.

III. Selection of Canine Officers

- A. Personnel who desire assignment to the canine section must meet the following requirements.
 - 1. Minimum of two years as a certified police officer.

2. No ongoing disciplinary actions pending.
 3. Be in good physical condition.
 4. Ability to prepare and maintain accurate daily canine records, forms, and reports.
 5. Ability to be on an on call status, work odd hours, holidays, and weekends.
 6. Must be able to provide proper motivation and control for the canine with adequate and effective verbal / physical characteristics.
 7. To have a commitment to remain a canine handler of a working canine for the duration of the canine's life or retirement.
 8. The final selection will be that of the Chief of Police or designee, and his commanders based on the applicant's scores of an oral board and/or written test.
- B. The selection of a K-9 handler is an assignment and will not be considered a promotion.
- C. Once assignments are made and certification is completed, the K-9 teams will be activated. Thereafter and only based on the handler's discretion to apply the K-9 to a specific operation will be that of the individual handler.

IV. Ownership and Disposition of K-9's

- A. Police service dogs are owned by the City of Las Vegas.

V. Training Standards for Police Dogs

- A. The K-9 coordinator is designated as the K-9 training officer and has the responsibility and authority to train the canine team according to his or her certified standards. The canine officer has the responsibility to adhere to the canine training officer's decision and instructions regarding the canine team training.
1. In-service training shall be scheduled and supervised by the canine training coordinator with a minimum of sixteen hours per month set aside for training. The in-service training shall consist of day and or night time training.
 2. Each K-9 will be certified on a quarterly and yearly basis. The K-9 must pass all phases of the canine proficiency test, in narcotics detection, tracking, area searches, and apprehension. Once certification is acquired by the handler and the K-9, they will be subject to call out.

- a. If the K-9 team fails to pass a phase of testing, the K-9 is not permitted to be used in that phase until the team successfully passes the test.
 - b. If the test is not successfully passed in certain time deemed feasible by a master trainer, the K-9 and handler shall be re-evaluated by the canine coordinator and master trainer for replacement and or retraining.
3. The handler, canine coordinator, and master trainer will maintain copies of the training records which pertain to the canine team.
4. All training will be conducted as required by certification standards.
- B. The K-9 handler and coordinator are responsible for making sure that the teams are meeting all training certification standards. The team will be allowed to train on every Wednesday of the month. The handler must meet his training time within those days or must be able to justify a reason if the time is not met. The training days are subject to change based on operations.

VI. Retirement of K-9:

If for any reason, a K-9 is no longer able to function in the team, the K-9 will be retired. The Chief of Police decides the manner of retirement.

- A. A handler may be allowed to keep the K-9, if so desired, and if approved by the Chief of Police.
- B. Upon retirement, a waiver of liability for the department shall be signed by the K-9's new owner. The waiver of liability shall be kept with K-9's permanent file.
- C. The K-9's new owner shall be responsible for all costs associated with the care and keeping of the K-9. This includes, but is not limited to medical treatment, food, lodging, etc.

VII. Use of K-9 Teams

- A. Reasonable searches of dwellings, buildings, jails, schools, etc. This will be at the discretion of the supervisor and handler. The handler will make the final decision whether to use or not to use the K-9. When a K-9 is deployed to conduct a search for the purpose of clearances of the structures for any criminals, who may have entered them. All exits should be guarded by officers from the outside and the officers should keep anyone from entering the structure until the K-9 and handler have conducted their search. The handler shall call out two warnings and will call out a final warning to the affect that a K-9 will be released to apprehend the suspect, if the suspect does not make him/her visible and peacefully surrenders.

Example of warning:

“This is the Las Vegas Police Department K-9 Unit make your presence known or I will release the dog, to find you. This is the Las Vegas Police Department K-9 Unit make your presence known or I will release the dog, to find you. This is the Las Vegas Police Department K-9 Unit make your presence known or I will release the dog, to find you, this is your final warning.”

1. A call out must also be used that fits the geographical language of the area.

B. Cases where a felony suspect has fled on foot, the supervisor and handler will make the decision whether to use the K-9s tracking capabilities based on the circumstances to apprehend or find the suspect. The handler will make the final decision whether to use or not to use the K-9.

C. The use of search and rescue in locating lost persons.

D. Narcotic Detection

1. Department canine are trained to detect various odors of narcotics.

2. Any officer must notify the on duty supervisor and commander before requesting an off duty canine team to assist in locating narcotics.

3. Narcotic searches shall be conducted on or off leash.

E. Area Searches

1. Area searches are done by allowing the K-9 to use its nose by tracking down or up wind. The handler may conduct the search on or off leash. The handler must have sight and must be able to control the K-9 at all times if it is off leash.

2. Canine teams may be utilized to search an open area for felony suspects or in search and rescue at the discretion of the supervisor and handler.

3. If possible the area search will be started from the last exact known position of the suspect, or the furthest position down wind.

F. Tracking

1. If a suspect flees the scene of any major crime, the immediate area should be sealed off by officers and the canine team will be called to track the suspect if practical. A second K-9 team may be called out if available and necessary to assist.

2. Officers should take care not to disturb the start of a track and should try to keep the area sterile as possible to allow the canine to pick up the suspects scent.

3. The above procedure applies to search and rescue.

4. Tracking is conducted on or off leash, but the handler must have sight and must be able to control the K-9 at all times if it is off leash.

VIII. Policies Regarding the Use of K-9 Teams
